He wrote: "The scholarship records of the Nevada City high school in the University of California is higher than tht average record of freshmen entrants. CHAMBER IN 49ER FASHION FORECAST

(Ed. Note: Here is the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce's recent bulletin, "Advance Style Notes for Spring").

The trend in clothing for the next three or four months seems to take on a western flair. Men and women are appearing in ever-increasing numbers wearing bright shirts, jeans, large hats and boots. The kiddies look good in them, too.

It has been whispered that some persons inclined to high style clothing are looking to the '49er fashions for their apparel.

Many of the "he-men" rugged individuals are already blossoming out in chin whiskers and sideburns. This of course, adds color to our '49er Frontier Days Celebration. Don't forget that prizes will be awarded for the best whiskes, and for '49er costumes for men. women and children.

Buildings also will have a face-lifting. Many slab fronts will be placed on local buildings by May first.

It is my prediction that all citizens of the Grass Valley and Nevada City area interested in giving a preview of the '49tr Centennial Celebration will be adorned with whiskers and western garb, or '49er clothing, by May 1.

Bergemann Heads Chamber 4th Committee; Full Support of Grass Valley Program Pledged

Paul Bergemann was elected chairman of the Nevada City 4th of July Committee and full support of the Nevada City Chamber to the Grass Valley Chamber's celebration was pledged at the night meeting of the chamber held Tuesday. roads, airport, and the city park came in for their full share of discussion at a two hour meeting. The matter of parking meters was politely tabled until a later date.

Grass Valley at a recent meeting with George Hansen, chamber president, suggested that Nevada City assume responsibility for one full day of the three da 1947 celebration. This was decided against this year. Later it is hoped the old precedent of each town rotating the celebration be scrapped in favor of a yearly monster twin city affair patterned after Auburn's Gold Rush days held each year which has become a well publicized mecca for thousands of tourists.

According to Hansen whiskers will be in vogue after May 1st with western garb the dress of the day. As a means of feeding the chamber treasury the Whiskerinos will again be organided and the Kangeroo Kourt will be a fines collection agency.

False store fronts will be requested of the merchants. Concessions will be operated at Watt Park in Grass Valley with the opportunity for the Nevada City chamber to run some of them for profit. A rodeo in Grass Valley will be one of the highlights of the three day affair with the planned appearance of a movie personality and movies taken for nationwide distribution.

All fines, collected will be divided fifty-fifty between the city park and the airport..

Secretary Si Sofge, chamber champion for better roads, reported excellent progress on the North San Juan to the Middle Yuba stretch. Six carryalls and a grader are working there. Nothing at the moment is being done on the Indian Flat road but it is expected activity will commerce in about three weeks. This entrance into Nevada City will necessitate broadening the west Broad approach.

Charles Veale, airport enthusiast since 1944 was given a vote of thanks for his untiring efforts to have Nevada City recognized as one of the real airminded California cities. Veale talked at length of the struggle to have the airport properly financed and maintained.

The American Cancer Society was given a $10 donation. The members in attendance at the Tuesday night meeting expressed their opinions with considerable candor, but the meeting lacked the heavy attendance of the recent noon luncheon.

THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L.

A great American, who, without probably ever exjecting to do so, helped the United States to win two world wars, is dead. Henry Ford whose mechanical genius gave us not only a cheap car which a great majority of Americans could afford to use, also was the father of mass production in the United States and later in Germany.

It was ability to produce that won both wars. We had plenty of help from other nations to be sure, but it was the system of mass production which tipped the scales in the two world wars and placed us on the winning side. This country can remember Henry Ford with the same veneration as we do Edison, his late ffiend. It was Henry Ford who startled the world by paying his workmen $5 a day, which was about one dollar a day more than mechanics were then receiving anywhere in the United States, and who said, in effect, no wages are too high which are earned.

Henry Ford was not an historical student, indeed, we believe he had rather a low opinion of historical lessons. Otherwise we can hardly understand his venture in chartering a peace ship and sending it to Denmark, during the first world war, with the remark that he would have the boys out the trenches by Christmas. The episode indicates an utter disregard for the lessons of history, and in this case of the conditions governing the titanic struggle in France. His thrifty soul abhored the utter and irredeemable waste of war..

Yet, with no apparent appreciation of history and its revealing light upon the rise and fall of nations, Ford did value the relics that marked the rise of his country. The old violins, the old habitations, the old furniture, and the old cutsoms, all the stepping stones that bridged the quiet stream of the primitive life of our forebears into the seething, modern tumult in which we now find ourselves. To him those tools, playthings and apurtenances of an early day were precious, and paradoxically, he and Edison were the two outstanding figures in the United States, who cast them into the discard.

We see the conference in Moscow rapidly drawing to a close. The difference between the Russian and American viewpoint is too vast to be bridged. Our secretary of state, George Marshall, not optimistic when he went to the conference a month ago, has found nothing since to alter his viewpoint. The Russians in effect demand the enslavement of the German people, putting them under debt of ten millions that would take every penny above a meagre existence for perhaps a hundred years.

We read that boundaries are now being discussed. We have little to hope for agreement there. Russia in seizing back her old portion of Poland, will insist that the boundaries she has established for herself and her satellite, Poland, shall stand. Poland, divided between Germany, Russia and Austria, and restored to something near its original boundaries after the first World War, has again been partitioned. Russia, in effect, taking over the area she had seized in the last century and compensating Poland with German territory without so much as "if you please" to her allies.

Now we do not specially object to this swap, if it ended there. The objection is to Russia's action without reference to, or approval of, Russia's allies. It serves to point up, what has often been mentioned here, the dictatorship under which Russia acts against the world and against world peace. Ultimately Russia will be divested of her dictatorial government, either by internal rebellion, which seems most unlikely in the predictable future, or by pressure of the rest of the world, led by the United States. It seems abundantly plain that Russia has learned little in the conflict ended two years ago. Engaging and winning, a war of survival with Germany, she now proposes to repeat the arrogant mistakes Hitler made.

In the meantime, we are sometimes startled by Russian insistence that we provide the rest of the world with our knowledge of atomic bombs or at any rate agree to ban them forever in warfare. This seems indisputable evidence that the Russians have not yet penetrated the secret of atomic fission, though their spy plots in Canada indicate their deep interest in it. For our part, we hope Uncle Sam lays up a big store of atomic bombs, just in case. Insurance is always expensive, but if it serves to avoid the third, and, it may be, the last world war, it will be extremely cheap.

P. G. AND E. TO CUT GAS RATE IN TWIN CITIES

NEVADA CITY: A further reduction in gas rates for Grass Valley and Nevada City, effective April 28, was proposed this week by Pacific Gas and Electric Company in an application filed with the California Public Utilities Commission.

L. R. Farrell, P. G. and E. district manager, said the new rates will bring substantial savings to both residential and commercial users who consume more than 1500 cubic feet of propane air gas per month, for which the charge is $3.90. There will be no reduction in bills up to $3.90 he said..

A saving of six cents per 100 cubic feet will begin after 1500 cubic feet have been consumed and will be effective on bills ranging between $3.90 and $5.80 a month, the latter being the cost for 2500 cubic feet.

An additional saving of seven cents per 100 cubic feet will begin after 2500 cubic feet have been consumed and will affect monthly bills ranging between $5.80 and $14.80, the latter being for 10,000 cubic feet.

Propane has brought substantial savings to Grass Valley and Nevada City gas consumers, Farrell said, pointing out that a monthly bill of $4.85 under the new propane rates would be $5.98 if the switchover from manufactured gas had not been made.

POOR SOILS—WEAK PEOPLE? NOT ALWAYS SAYS JENNY

BERKELEY: The widespread idea that poor soils produce unhealthy people suffering from mineral deficiencies is probably an oversimplification, in the opinion of Dr. Hans Jenny, head of the soils division of the University of California College of Agriculture..

Dr. Jenny has just returned from a six month leave of absence studying soils of Central and South America.

"That notion does not seem to hold true in tropical rain forest areas of Columbia" Jenny declares. "In parts of the Chaco region with an annual rainfall of 300 to 400 inches, the soils are leached and acid, but the people whom I met there have strong bodies and fine teeth."

"The explanation", Jenny feels, "seems to be that there are many streams and rivers in this high rainfall region and they supply fish which is an important part of the people's diet. This probably counteracts any mineral difeciencies that might exist in the vegetable foods."

In constrast many people living in the fertile valley of Cauca and in the rich hills of Caldas, with 40 to 80 inches annual rainfall, have badly decayed teeth and goiter troubles, Jenny said. They live mostly on white rice, potatoes, yucca platanos, and beans. To offset this heavy starch diet, they eat many more of the mineral and vitamin rich organs of domesticated animals such as liver, brain, heart and kidney, than we Americans do, but probably not enough to completely balance their diet and supply enough minerals, he explained.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S LETTER WORK

A prize possession of John Ellis of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation is the original manuscript of a letter written by Abraham Lincoln in 1861. It has been quoted before but here it is, just as Mr. Lincoln wrote it.

"The lady bearer of this—says she has two sons who want to work. Set them at it. If possible. Wanting to work is so rare a want that it should be encouraged."

Mr. Ellis says that it might yield an idea or two to apply to present industrial situation, for it shows that the disinclination to work is by no means a modern discovery.

Perennial Charm

Navy crepe dress with white trim.

By VERA WINSTON

NAVY WITH a touch of white is a time-honored fashion that looks forever new, since it is capable of infinite variations. Crisp white pleated batiste cascades down one side of the bodice in a semi-heart shape, and edges the sleeves of this neat navy crepe dress. The overskirt buttons in back above a sliver-slim underskirt. The neckline is convertible, the pleating can be turned back so that the neckline forms a V. This is a delightful frock for pleasant spring afternoons.

U. C. MAN SAYS ESKIMOS ORIGINATED IN ASIA

BERKELEY: Indications that the Eskimo probably migrated to the North American continent from northeast Asia are to be found in a study of mythology.

This is a conclusion of Dr. Frank J. Essene, Jr., who recently completed a dissertation for his dottorate on the Berkeley campus of the University of California on the subject of Eskimo mythology.

Dr. Essene writes that the mythology of Eskimos of the northwest coast of America and of Northeast Asia indicate similarities which may go back to a time when these people were in somewhat intimate contact.

The common meeting ground might presumably be near the focal point of the cultures, perhaps in western Alaska. However Dr. Essene states, the preponderance of Old World motifs in the myths common to the cultures on both sides of the Bering straits justifies designating northeast Asia as the common meeting ground.

Profits Fallacy

The profit incentive is widely misunderstood and maligned. Many folks talk about profits as though they were injurious. These folks indulge in side-glances, as if profits were a vicious imposition upon the people. Profits, to some who are misled or misinformed, have assumed a negative sound. The fallacy is that industry arrives at selling prices by piling onto production costs as much profit as the traffic will bear. This is not the way profits are calculated.

Sales prices on the tags are the prime consideration. In a free competitive market, the price tag is not marked according to preconceived notions of what the profit ought to be. Another fallacy, that free enterprise makes goods for profit rather than for use, comes to light here. The consumer is king in a free market: the price tag is slave to the demands of a price-conscious buying public. This is one game in which the consumer takes the sweepstakes.

Efficiency Is King

You and I manufacture radios. We meet squarely in the market, where mine is priced at $100 and yours at $75. If the quality is the same, I must either lower my selling price to compete or give to the customer one-third greater value than you do. The lower the price and the more quality included, the better off each of us will be—saleswise. And the first one of us to achieve quantity sales, or real mass production, will be the first one to give the customer lower prices and better quality. Competition thus regulates the selling price regardless of my costs.

The cycle is just that simple. To keep factories running, the goal of our industries is to make a better product available to a larger number of people through mass production and lower selling costs. After deducting costs from the customer's price the result may or may not be a profit. When the margin is uncomfortably close, the next logical step will be toward more efficient production.

Efficiency of operation means to industry the ability to keep down costs of making and selling a product. The object is a favorable position on the open market. This means that factories must be busy constantly, taking up the unemployed, supplying products at lower costs to an ever increasing buying public. Not only idle men, but idle money, is called for to provide the tools to increase output.

The Public Profits

Winner of this game is the buying public. Because of the profit incentive and free competition, the public reaps huge dividends in the form of better merchandise at fair prices. To the average citizen of socialistic and totalitarian countries, where I have observed that these things are never duplicated, these simple facts seem an unattainable dream. What American would wish to exchange this system for methods that have never succeeded half so well?

Profit is no parasite feeding on our economic system. Profit is the life blood of the industrial and business enterprises responsible for the highest level of civilization the world has known. Freedom to compete against skill and efficiency by using better skill and more efficiency means a progressive civilization—not a static economy that either withers away or makes spoilage for the spoilers.

BE CAUTIOUS NOW. ADAMS WARNS FARMERS

BERKELEY: Advice on how California farmers can protect themselves in the period of lower agricultural prices ahead comes from R. L. Adams farm management specialist in the University of California College of Agriculture since 1914, who suggests that famers:

Buy carefully and conservatively.

Expand slowly and wisely.

Create and continue to conserve reserves.

Avoid unwise over optimism and equally unnecessary pessimism.

Undertake reduction of debts to a manageable amunt if income is cut.

Tackle the most important tasks first.

Improve labor conditions.

Operate efficiently and economically.

Utilize the best marketing facilities.

Stand by your cooperative and sense coming changes in advance.

In a two word nutshell: Be Cautious.

"I do not see any thing different following the leveling off after this war than we saw after World War I," Adams warns. "In the past 150 years we've had five eras of agricultural prosperity but all of them were associated with a war.. After each war, a serious readjustment—downward—took place."

Unless we act, 35 Californians will die of cancer every day. No one is safe., Protect yourself and those you love. Give to conquer cancer.

San Francisco Revives 49-Mile Drive

SAN FRANCISCO: The famous 49 Mile Scenic Drive, Mecca of tourists during Treasure Island Exposition years, has been revived, re-routed and will shortly be marked out with brilliant new direction signs in California's distinctive blue and gold for the benefit of San Francisco's post war visitors according to announcement by the Down Town Association creators in 1938 of this popular and nationally famous metropolitan tourist thoroughfare.

The route of the 49 Mile Scenic Drive runs a continuous course of exactly 49 miles through the length and breadth of the city touching every exciting spot of historical significance and thrilling beauty.

The visitor, starting at the southwest corner of the City Hall, may follow an easily identified route through the retail shopping section of Chintatown, Coit Tower, Fisherman's Wharf, The Yacht Harbor, Palace of Fine Arts, The Presidio, Palace of the Legion of Honor, Cliff House, the Beach, Lake Merced, Golden Gate Park, Sigmund Stern Grove, Twin Peaks, Mission Dolores, San Francisco Junior College,, McLaren Park, Hunters Point, the industrial and shipbuilding area and the Embarcadero to the Ferry Building adjacent to the projected site of the World Trade Center which terminates the drive a leisurely two and a half to three hours distant from the start.

Cancer is no respector of age. It strikes young and old. Give to conquer cancer..

Your dollars for research will help find the cause and cure of cancer. Give to conquer cancer.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

And That Ain't Hay —Or Is It?

I guess all of us secretly hanker, from time to time, for the good old days and the good old-fashioned pleasures. Leastways, Buddy Richards done a thriving business reviving the old-time hayride.

With a team of horses, and a stout straw-bedded rack, Buddy can take as many as thirty adults —at fifty cents a head!

Two or three times a week they start from Town Hall, and go out along the river; stop for a friendly glass of beer at Shoreside Tavern; and come home by way of Pound Ridge . . . nine miles in all.

Not very exciting, you might say. But from where I sit it's not excitement that we need these days—but those simple country pleasures that are part and parcel of America—the old-fashioned hayride, with its song and jollity; the horseshoe games; the friendly glass of beer; and the good companionship that they engender.

GREAT NEVADA CITY FIRE OF '51 RETOLD; WELSHMAN DESCRIBES PUNISHMENT OF THIEVES BY LASH

(Ed. Note: The following story of Nevada City's great fire in 1851, and of the punishment of thieves here by lashing, is contributed by Hammond Williams, city treasurer of Colfax. The original narrative was in Welsh, written by William Jones Williams, on a recent trip to the British Isles, discovered the book and translated the passages printed here into English for the first time.)

Nevada City, 1851.

First of all this town was established on a small river called Deer Creek, a branch of the South Yuba, about 85 miles north of Sacramento, in a country of hills and forests, where the pine tree grows to a height of 300 feet, and on account of that the materials for building a home are very convenient.

On the 11th of March, about 1 o'clock in the morning, fire broke out and inside of half an hour, over a hundred houses were burned to the ground. Before this the weather had been dry and the wooden houses became easy prey to the avenging fire.

It is hard to describe the scene, the whole place on fire at once and pitch pine that had not been cut down still standing in the middle of the fire, but burning from the bottom to the top, over 200 feet in height. The part of the town that was burned contained almost all of the places of amusement, as well as some of the larger stores. No one lost his life, but the merchants are believed to have lost around $500,000, but pretty soon it will be rebuilt better and finer than ever.

As for the population of the town and the surrounding territory, estimates vary, but its generally computed between 10 and 15 thousand and mong them are people of every language almost and of every clime, and of course all kinds of different characters. And yet, taking into consideration the circumstances the times are more peaceful than many a one would think.

Since I have been here, 4 or 5 men have been killed, but the murderers escaped without punishment. A searching enquiry was made for the person or persons that set the town on fire but all to no avail..

Recently, three men were arrested for stealing $520. from a man. There case was tried, and the verdict for two of them was to receive 20 lashes each, and the third 39 lashes. on the third of this month. The thieves were taken to the other side of town, on top of a hill, where their direful punishment was administered until a large majority of 4000 resent shouted, Enough! Enough! suffering for the crime committed. This was the first time that I saw punishment administered in this fashion; but I heard of one man who received 10 lashes fo stealing a sack of flour during the fire.

Am sorry to say that several fall into temptation after coming to this country, some were respected members of their churches at home, but prodigals here; others when home were preaching the gospel, but here, wallowing with the hogs and the husks. While some are like this, yet God has His servants and they, through His support, can stand at the cross roads, in spite of all this, and Christ message is just as beautiful as anywhere else, to those that are living it as they should. Yet with all this population, seldom will you see more than around a hundred going to chapel; but those that go, listen attentatively to all that is said and you can't distract him with womens finery or crying children. For the rest of the people on Sunday it would be pretty hard to follow them to the different places. On this day virtually all the buying and selling takes place, several wagons arrive here Saturday night from Sacramento, to be ready on Sunday to sell there wares, the miners coming to town to buy food for the following week, some getting drunk, others gambling and in this way the street is full from morning to night, and the auctioneer in their midst busy at his vocation. As for the mines around the town, they are accounted among the richest in the country. At a place called (Coyote Diggins), they have to dig around 20 yards before striking it, when found they raise the dirt up and wash it. Beside this is pretty dry ground, they have to dig a ditch three miles long to bring water to it. It continues to pay very well but others right along side of them, haven't been able to get anything. Another place by the name of Little Deer Creek, here they dig from 5 to 10 feet when they hit upon it. Another place by he name of Ravine Diggings, here the gold is near the surface of the ground. In all the diggings where they get gold, its mixed with dirt, clay, and rocks, and they have to wash it to get the dust. For this operation they have long troughs with water running into them. The wages here are from $4 to $5 a day, but pretty unsettled, sometimes more, sometimes less. The winter has been pretty dry, and the weather mild. I saw the Indians coming to town, almost in the coldest weather we had, barefooted and with not much on their bodies. What would the citizens of Steuben think of weather like this! But not wishing to tire the editor with a long letter this time I will bring this to a close.

REALLY EAT TODAY?

A NUGGET RECIPE FEATURE

Of course you ate. But what? There's a whale of a lot more to health than just filling up. And Mother, it's your job to give your family their must for health foods every day. No one balks at Orange Gelatine Custard or crispy green salad bowl. Yet they're crammed with what it takes. Tricks? You bet! The more the healthier! Eating right? Here's for scoring yourself—

For Healthy Bones and Teeth and general upkeep you oldsters need a pint of milk per day in one way or another. Your youngsters? A full quart. It's a dish made with milk—cream sauce, rennet custard dessert? Sure enough, that counts on your milk quota, too. Same goes for evaporated or dried milk. Tally in cheese as part of your milk allowance. Serve it often.

For a Lovely Complexion and that youthful look, check your Vitamin C. It's a booster for well gums and sound teeth. Calms jitters and teeth. It calms your jitters and sweetens your dispositioon—so have another orange! But you can't take C with you from day to day. So daily eat it or drink it in fresh or canned fruit or vegetable juices.

For Bounce and Guard against infection, for keeping eyes keen, get lots of yellow and green. Canned peaches and apricots count, too., but don't slip up on those yellow vegetables, canned, fresh or frozen. Any plus value you'll tuck away in your liver! Didn't rate two checks? Round up a carrot or drink of vegetable juice, important for Vitamin A, its relatives and minerals..

For Downright Exciting Eeating serve a variety. So here's to first of the garden stuff—tender, juicy young fry that cost less while they are in season and taste grand. Such foods as potatoes, and bananas stoke our energy engines, help on the repair too. Canned and frozen foods stretch the fresh season year around and have vitamins intact, thanks to new methods.

For Spunk to Face Tough Days, for steady nerves and peppy appetites, spotlight whole grain or enriched bread and cereals. Right you are. They're Vitamin B and Company. When you add molasses and raisins you boost minerals and deliciousness. Enrich? That means simply health value raised by putting back vitamins and minerals originally present..

For General Well Being that family of yours needs plenty of body-building meat. It's worth every penny you pay. Thrifty cuts are just as nutritious as choice ones. Serve liver and organ meats often. Make fish once a week a rule. Land a salt water beauty at the fish market or in a can. There's iodine there. Let dried beans, peas, and nuts sub for meat now and then.

For a Prize Nutrition Package buy an egg. But don't be a one-way egg cook. There are 1000 ways to serve 'em. Use lots in baking and make dishes such as cheese souffle and custards. Keep hard cooked ones ready. White or brown are equally good. It's the youlk that counts. An egg a day's best, but we'll settle for four or five a week. One check.

For Good Eeating that Sticks to Your Ribs nothing beats butter and spreads and other fats and oils. It takes shortening (fat) to make pie and cake, and fat to make a cream sauce. So you may include these.

Wonder what's happened to riboflavin and niacin? Don't worry. They're taken care of if you're high score. it's the National Nutrition Yardstick.

STEVENS ADVOCA TES MAXIMUM PROMOTION FOR CENTENNIAL

GRASS VALLEY: Elmer Stevens, director of the Nevada County Historical Society and member of the Grass Valley high school factulty, addressing the Grass Valley Lions Club at luncheon in the Jopamavi Club at Glenbrook sketched the advantages Nevada City and Grass Valley may reap in the Centennial years by preparing to entertain some of the millions who visit the gold producing counties during those years.

He pointed out that Auburn has realized many dividends with its annual Gold Rush Days. He said: "While whiskers may play a role in the celebration, the moment for publicizing the history of this area and the rich present day opportunities Nevada County offers, are much more important.

"While California cities such as Los Angeles and San Francisco have lost sight of their founding incentive through the establishment of many new industries, thei background reflects the quest for gold, and their growth stems from the gold of California streams and quartz mines."

Today's production of oil in the United States comes from 421,000 wells.

The national honey crop was 213,814,000 pounds in 1946.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

Are Sin, Disease and Death Real? This question is the subject of the Christian Science Lesson Sermon for Sunday, April 13. The golden text is from Habagguk: Are thou not from everlasting, O Lord my God, mine Holy One we shall not die. Thou are of purer eyes than to behold evil and canst not look on iniquity. (1:12, 15.

Included in the sermon are these citations:

Genesis: And God saw every thing that he had made and behold it was good, (1:31).

Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy: Delusion, sin, disease and death arise from the false testimony of material sense, which from a supposed standpoint outside the focal distance of infinite spirit presents an inverted image of mind and substance with everything turned upside down.

Christian Science Society of Nevada City holds services every Sunday in their church 114 Boulder St. at 11 o'clock. Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. A Wednesday evening testimonial meeting is held on the first Wednesday of each month at eight o'clock. Our reading room is now located in the church at 114 Boulder Street and is open Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, holidays excepted from 2 to 4 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend our services and visit the reading room.

GRASS VALLEY HIGH SCHOOL

BY DON BURNS

The Yuba City high school, Monday, April 7, brought a cast of 90 student entertainers to the Grass Valley high school to present their exchange assembly program. The program, in the form of a minstrel show, was said by observers, to be one of the best student shows seen in many years.

The students presented their show two weeks ago in the State Theatre in Marysville before a packed base of nearly two thousand. Over eight hundred were turned away at the door.

This was one of the programs designed by the Student Body Officers Association of the Sierra Foothill League to increase inter-school relations.

The senior picnic committee, under senior class president Anthony Lippi, hs decided that the annual affair will take place at Lake Olympia on May 15 this year. A well rounded program, from swimming and dancing to dominoes, has been planned.

Starting at 9:30 a. m. and ending at 5 p. m. a potluck supper will be featured and the Jopamavi Club will furnish horses for the day.

For the first time in a good many years Grass Valley's track team kept the league "Powerhouses" literally jumping Saturday, April 5, when the Grass Valley C team won the meet. Up to the last event, the class C broad jump, Grass Valley had 22 points to Marysville's 22 1-2 points and Placer's 18. Leo Fry failed to place in the broad jump by missing his mark and fouling at the board, thus ending the meet Marysville 27 1-2, Placer 23 and Grass Valley 22.

Despite the weakened A team by many absentees, Halverstadt established himself as the number one putter for the Miners by placing second to Kosterko of Placer.

In the B division Schloredt ran a close second in the 440; Potts and Prehan scored in the 220 and hurdels; and Green placed third in the 1320.

Montre and Glika, in the C's ran first and second in the 880 with a good time of 2:16:1.

The C's will travel to Marysville Friday and the A's and B's will go to Placer to compete in the Placer relay carnival.

Budget-Conscious Recipes The Family Should Enjoy

By BETSY NEWMAN

I SEEM to be running to old-fashioned meat dishes lately in my search for menus that do not ruin our food budgets but taste good and give a maximum of nourishment for the least expenditure.

Here is a good pork dish that everyone should enjoy.

Today's Menu

Fresh Pork with Vegetables or Pork Chops, Sauted
Riced Potatoes Gravy
Cabbage and Apple Salad
Molasses Fruit Cookies
Coffee

Fresh Pork with Vegetables

1 lb. pork butt	4 large carrots
4 large parsnips	1 small, red cabbage

Seasoning

Wipe and cover pork with hot water and simmer for 1½ hours. Cook vegetables in the same kettle until they are done. Season, then remove them and finish cooking the meat. Cut the pork into thin slices, arrange them side by side down the middle of the platter, and make a border of the cabbage, quartered, and the other vegetables. If parsnips are not liked for this dish, try turnips, onions, or other vegetables. Serves 4.

Sauteed Fork Chops

Heat a heavy frying pan and brown as many chops as you need on one side, without using any other fat than what is attached to the chops, unless they are unusually lean. Turn and brown on the other side, then lower the heat and cook slowly until they are done through, about 20 to 30 min. A little water (hot) may be added if they seem dry, and they should be sprinkled with salt and pepper, and a little sage if you like the flavor, before they are done. Fried apples go well with sauteed pork. After meat is done, pour off most of the excess fat, add water if you want a thin gravy, or 2 tbsp. flour if you want a thick one, add hot water gradually, blend with flour, stirring constantly, and make gravy.

Molasses Fruit Cookies

1 c. nut meats	1½ tsp. soda
1 c. raisins	1 tsp. salt
¾ c. candied citron, orange and lemon peels	1 tsp. cinnamon
	1 tsp. nutmeg
	1 c. shortening
2 c. sifted flour	1 c. molasses
	1 egg

Prepare fruit and nuts and chop coarsely. Combine all. Sift flour, measure and sift again with soda, salt and spices. Melt shortening and cool. Add molasses and egg and blend thoroughly. Add dry ingredients gradually and stir them in as added; add fruit and nuts last. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheet and bake in a hot oven (425 F.) 10 to 15 min.

The Risen Lord and His Disciples — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—John 19:38-42; 20-21. By Alfred J. Buescher

Mary Madgalene was the first at Jesus' tomb early on Sunday morning, and when she found it empty, she went to Simon Peter and John and told them, and they hastened to the tomb.

Peter and John left, but Mary stood by the tomb, weeping; a voice asked her why she wept. "They have taken away my Lord," she said, and when Jesus said, "Mary," she recognized the Lord.

That same day, in the evening, when the disciples were in the house with their doors shut because of enemies, suddenly Jesus stood in their midst "and saith unto them, Peace be unto you."

Thomas was not with the others when Jesus appeared and he would not believe Jesus had risen; later Jesus came again and then Thomas believed.

RAINFALL IN TRUCKEE 23 INCHES TO APR. 1

H. I. Snider, district ranger, Tahoe national forest reports that the total precipitation for the month of March at Truckee was 5.79 inches, being 1.64 inches above normal for that month. The total precipitation of 23.00 inches for the season, since last September brings the precipitation to 2.26 inches over normal as of March 31. The total snowfall for the month of March was 29 inches but warm weather soon melted the pack leaving only traces of snow below the 6000 foot level.

With the opening of fishing season date set as of May 30 for the Truckee-Tahoe area, sportsmen will find the streams clear and low for this area. Roads and trails that have in the past been closed by snow, at the opening of fishing season should be well dried and accessible to the more eager fishermen.

BROAD STREET

By Harley M. Leete, Jr.

Feeling squirrely today? We got this one as a "so help me gosh, it's the gospel truth" item. OUR STORY OF THE WEEK is indisputably true—maybe? Hold your hats, here we go:

It's about a squirrel.

Several years ago a lady from Burlingame whom we shall designate as Miss Jones was visiting a friend of hers, a well known Grass Valley lady, to be described as Miss Arnold.

These ladies, with a group of relatives and youngsters, went on a picnic at Quaker Hill, about eight miles east of Nevada City. Without warning, three young gray squirrels tumbled out a tree. The tiny, helpless animals had dropped from their nest in the pine, unharmed.

The good hearted youngsters got an eye dropper and fed and cared for the squirrel babies. Under this solicitous but unscientific care, one grew strong and bushy tailed, but two departed from this world's troubles, tall pine trees, insecure nests, and all.

The husky squirrel was named Frisky. He became a pet and favorite at the Burlingame home of Mrs. Smith. At length, hoever, he became most destructive. He didn't realize that what was okay at Quaker Hill was strictly verboten in the neat peninsula suburb.

Another camping trip was arranged. Frisky, was to be returned to his ancestral estate of Tall Pines on the shores of the laughing waters of Quaker Hill diggings.

At the end of the stay under the whispering pines of Quaker Bayou, Frisky was to defend himself against the denizens of the forest. Plenty of squirrel rations were left to start him off with a full stomach. He was supposed to establish his own place in the natural scheme of things. Perhaps he might become Lord of the Limb and High Man on the Pine Tree.

But no. What happens?

Two weeks later the boy who owned the squirrel was aroused early one morning in the bedroom of his Burlingame home. He was awakened by the scratching of little feet—Frisky's little feet. scampering about his bedroom.. There was no sure way of identifying the little critter, but he had the same personality as Frisky.

And his little feet and toes were nearly raw.

I should hope to tell you they were raw. According to the originators of this story, Frisky. had traveled just about 200 miles in his return to home sweet home in Burlingame. Giving Frisky the benefit of six inch hops or steps, he must have taken 2,112,000 steps. It's a wonder his feet weren't worn off to his shoulders and he didn't have to wriggle the last 20 miles on his stomach like a snake.

Furthermore, as far as is known, Frisky didn't have a cent on him when left at Quaker Hill. How'd he get across the San Francisco bay without paying fare? Swim? Tunnel under it?

Like we said, the story was told us for gospel. We're not saying it isn't true, for we don't want to hear the scratch of sore little feet one morning in our bedroom, and discover Frisky, up from Burlingame to take destructive revenge on us for casting aspersions on his motive power and stamina.
